About the theme and its relevance

In the era of Artificial Intelligence & Machine Learning, L & D fraternity also needs to develop the Concept of Learning Intelligence where the L&D Practitioners across globe can truly contribute in developing the basic principles of this concept and then implementing it with the advent of various smart cloud-based technologies. Models to be built where building blocks for best learning practices can be readily available and can be reused by practitioners across the globe and can be refined on a real time basis.
